- Where are we going right now?
- Lightworker Mentoring

Hello Friends!

I hope you're all doing well! I think it's safe to say that many of us are either going through or on the brink of major changes in our lives. It can be a lot to handle sometimes! Of course, we all knew on some inner level this was going to happen since we all chose to be here at this point in time. It's all good!

The energy may seem a bit dense right now so be sure to call on your guardian angels to lighten and brighten the energy around you. Remember, they can't interfere with our free will so be sure to ask for the support, comfort, guidance and insight you seek.

For those lightworkers seeking guidance on beginning your own healing practice, I am now offering mentoring sessions to help healers get their business going. See below for more information

You are all wonderful inspirations. Thank you for spreading the Light!

Blessings to you and yours,
Janice

Where are we going right now?

Many of us are wondering what we are supposed to be doing during this 'big change' we're all experiencing. The angels say that there is a lot of collective karma being balanced right now so you may notice a lot of issues and unexpected situations surfacing, not necessarily for you personally but happening around you, possibly pulling you in.

In the U.S. we are being besieged by fear-based information about the financial market. Essentially, we are being asked to give our assistance to repay a debt that doesn't feel like it's ours. Yes we are as a group being asked to help pay a heavy debt but, as always, what we give will come back to us. So if you've been feeling emotional or uneasy about all the financial fallout, have faith. The angels are indicating that in the future attention will be concentrated on the people managing this money as the lesson is being learned by those in power. I am hearing that the U.S. administration is now taking heed of what other successful governments have been trying to convey regarding regulations and monitoring-the message is finally getting through. The inattention that resulted in recent financial consequences will be corrected, even if it is at a price. They may have been trying to keep us in the dark but as always, the truth comes to light.

What we need to remember is that on a soul level, we are much more powerful than any financial market. We can and will bounce back, wiser and more practical than before. Big change isn't always comfortable to move through but we usually emerge in a much better place. The universe is reminding us that sometimes unfortunate events make the most impact on humans as a whole. As a society, we've been conditioned to be consumers and to always strive for more and better. Many of us no longer buy into that and it will take a while before this new energy is assimilated into society.

So what are we lightworkers supposed to do right now? Be patient, meditate, go within and listen to your heart. People who are losing their jobs right now are definitely worried but for many, this will be a blessing in disguise as real opportunities to follow their dreams come to light. Because of what is going on in the financial markets, the angels are calling on us lightworkers to come together and form coalitions to create a larger more powerful presence in the world. The angels observe that when we do our healing work on our own, we sometimes struggle and miss the camaraderie we felt in the traditional workplace. Some lightworkers may find that merging individual businesses and sharing resources is an amazing way to expand what you're already doing or start what you want to be doing. It's very powerful when 5, 10, 50 or even 100 lightworkers come together in alliance and offer all their services under one umbrella. The angels are very excited about more lightworkers coming together and many healers may be receiving 'blueprints' of this vision or have already begun. To contemplate if this is right for you, go deep within, deeper than ever before, and consider the matters and logistics carefully in order to get clear on exactly what you want to do and what direction you'll go to make it all happen. Be patient as you seek your truth in solitude.

So why form a coalition with your fellow healers? When we come together we are more powerful. So many healers are emerging now and trying to find their way. Those of us that are farther down the path with more experience are being asked for support in helping the ones starting out to ground their spiritual practice. Nurturing lightworkers serve as a positive guiding force in assisting these inexperienced healers reaffirm their identity and purpose while providing inspiration, guidance and emotional support. Even those experienced lightworkers can benefit from the combined resources and expand on what they are now doing. So many of us are being called on now to take our work to the next level. And now more than ever, there are many healers that need support as they begin answering their inner callings. Coming together will bring harmony and blessings to all. On a practical note, I perceive that the newly available low commercial rents will be a big blessing to many of us searching for the right space to set up practice.

Despite how weird things may seem right now, lightworkers should move forward with conviction and self-assurance. Don't be irritated by the fearful practical deliberations of politicians and pundits or the small-minded timidity of people around you who can't understand your spiritual calling. Embrace your personal point of view and risk making your dreams come true! Optimism and cooperation goes a long way in making it happen.

For those lightworkers seeking a partnership or coalition, ask your angels to bring the right person(s) to you. It's no accident that we all have different life experience, skills and gifts. When we come together we can make the most of everyone's gifts and talents. One lightworker may be great with sales and marketing, another possessing much-needed technical skills while the background of other lightworkers will be in business, legal, promotions, public relations, retail, etc. Can you envision the impact of lightworkers coming together and making what we do even bigger and better? If so, pay attention to all the ideas, inspirations, visions and guidance you receive to unite for a bigger cause.

Lightworker Mentoring

- Have you received your calling as a healer but aren't sure where to start?
- Do you want to share your spiritual gifts with others but don't know how to move forward?
- Are you ready to do the work necessary to get your healing/lightwork practice off the ground?
- Do you need help in creating business cards, brochures and a website to showcase your services?

If you answered yes, then a mentoring session may be for you. This isn't a reading, this is practical advice to bring your healing practice to the next level. During a mentoring we will work on what you need as an individual starting out, to get your healing practice going. The sessions depend on where you are at in your healing practice and can include defining your mission, set realistic goals, learn how to convey what your services are and other keys to creating a professional healing practice to attract clients and make a difference with your work. If you need help creating your own 'storefront,' take this opportunity to refine your focus

These sessions are for healers already committed to doing this work and desiring to improve the competency in building their healing practice. I have over 25 years of experience doing readings and a decade of experience running my own successful healing practice. The guidance I am receiving is to share my practical knowledge with other lightworkers starting out or those wanting to move their practice to the next level.

Sessions offer practical advice along with working on issues like coming out of the psychic closet, sharing this work with friends and family, and other issues affecting you as a healer. The changes this work brings to our lives are mostly blessings but there can be challenges during the transition. I can give you support as you make your dreams come true.
